High Holiday Greetings from the Board of Directors

Dear Congregants,

We once again welcome you to Magain David for the High Holidays. Attendance is open to the entire community and we look forward to seeing many familiar faces.

Services will be led by Rabbi Simon Benzaquen and Hazzan Uzi Shazzo. The two will bring us warm and spiritually uplifting services, with melodies and tunes from the Sephardic tradition. Please see the following pages for thoughts from the Rabbi and for the schedule of services.

This year is different from all the other years, because of the COVID-19 pandemic and the restrictions that is imposes upon us.

We recommend that you get fully vaccinated and that you avoid coming to the High Holidays services if you are not fully vaccinated, for your own sake and health and the health of others. If you think that you cannot be vaccinated, please check with your doctor first. Also, please stay home if you are feeling sick or have any symptoms that you think could be COVID related.

As mandated by the city of San Francisco, wearing a mask is mandatory anywhere inside the synagogue or the social hall downstairs, whether or not you are vaccinated.

Also, please bring something warm in case the weather is cold as we will keep the windows open at all times during the service so the synagogue is well ventilated.

Note that services will be conducted in a manner different than usual to make sure we stay as safe as possible.

We want to be as open as possible so people can attend services, however, we might have to turn people away if there are too many people inside the synagogue, especially on Yom Kippur when there are usually a lot more people showing up.

Thank you all for understanding these restrictions and for helping us keep the services as safe as possible for all.

Seat Reservations: Many of you have already become members of the synagogue for 5782 (2021-2022). Thank you for your support. Seats will be reserved for our paid members of the synagogue but everyone is of course welcome to attend as is the tradition at Magain David. This year however, we will not offer paid seat reservations as we do not fully know yet what future possible restrictions could come from the city of San Francisco and the state of California.

Membership: If you are not already a member, please reflect on what the synagogue brings into your life. Your participation and membership contributions help us to continue to perpetuate our traditions and culture in San Francisco. To join Magain David as a member, please email the board of directors at info@magaindavid.com, or visit us at magaindavid.com/membership.

Sedarim: As in past years, we will have a seder each night of Rosh Hashanah. Please join the Rabbi and Hazzan and other members of the congregation to celebrate with us. To attend the seder inside the dining hall, you MUST BE FULLY VACCINATED or show us a recent (less than 8 days) negative COVID test in accordance with the requirement by the city of San Francisco for eating establishments to check for proof of vaccination. Please send us proof by email or show it to us before the sedarims. To register for the seder, please visit magaindavid.com/rosh-hashanah-seder.html, or text or call us: 415-752-9095. Cost per evening: $100/adult, $50/children under 13. Because COVID you must reserve in advance - no admission at the last minute.

Staying Updated: You can stay updated on events and news at Magain David with our synagogue e-mail newsletter. Email us, or visit magaindavid.com/mailling-list. We also can send you text updates to your phone. Please email us your cell phone number, or text us your name to 415-752-9095.

We wish everyone in our community a meaningful Shana Tova and a happy and healthy 5782.

Rosh Hashana Message by Rabbi Simon Benzaquen

Truly, the passage of time as we grow older seems to be speeding. In fact, life is fleeting, and we have to make the most of the time that is granted to us by the Almighty. We must realize that life is precious and we cannot afford to waste a minute. We have to do those things that life is worth living for. To set us in this mood, that is why we have been given this season of the High Holidays. Rosh Hashana. Ten days of Penitence. Yom Kippur. Succoth. Simhat Tora. An entire month, preceded by the month of Elul, dedicated to reflection to action and commitment.

Every aspect of our lives has an ingredient of that, which needs retrospection, and evaluation, leading us to action and commitment, whether it is in sad, reflective moments, or afflicted or happy and joyous moments. All of them require introspection to make the most of it in a positive way, learning to value every moment of our lives and to appreciate the difference of what is good and real in our lives, and what is false and fleeting and wasteful.

This year, before Rosh Hashanah, many of us find ourselves very busy thinking about what is happening to our world, to our city San Francisco and to our United States. To our Israel, and to our Community at-large, even to our families and to ourselves. Since the beginning of 2020, we have imposed on ourselves unprecedented limitations, not being able to venture in to the places that we were supposed to go and to be, nor go wherever we want to go. Our Synagogues have been limited to us, by the number of people that can enter their portals. Our Magain David Synagogue that we cherish so much, and look forward to spend Shabbat services in harmony and friendship, and enjoy the most delicious Kiddush and meals catered by our very own Dina and Yossi Man. We have been deprived of the pleasures of visiting our families and our friends, in many cases the idea of traveling has to be postponed. Even now we are still limited in what we can do and what we cannot do. We have to go through these motions without knowing yet when we are going to go back and return to normal, hopefully there will be a normal. As we went on our regular pursuit of our lives and ventures, we never had ideas of what next year, next month, next week, or even next day, was going to be like, but we, all of us have been caught off guard, we have been surprised by the Covid-19 epidemic and pandemic that has engulfed the entire world with devastating results. It has put the entire world upside down. This is exactly the true adage that says "Man proposes but God disposes". Therefore, it is wise to consider every moment that God grants us and to make the most of it especially with our families and our friends.

We are living in troubled times. The climate is one of fear about an uncertain future, by the personal and emotional anxieties that many of us grapple with daily.

The psychological forces, and the health issues that many of us face especially with Covid-19 still to be conquered, can be draining; we realize we have a lot to deal with. With the rampant anti-Semitism that is raising its ugly head again, and the state of our world in reference to us and to Israel, we cannot fathom how G-d runs this universe of ours, since He does this in combination with our actions and our free will.

Yet nothing is clear, for we are faced with things that happen in front of us that confound us and cloud our perspective of what is right and what is wrong. Many of us looked forward to the future, with our own plans of what we think ought to happen, suddenly we find that all of our plans are disrupted. Then we begin to wonder why? When it was planned it looked perfect, it was well thought out. Yet as the saying goes “El ombre propone y D-io dispone;” “Man proposes, G -d disposes.” In reality, we might be thinking hard and calculating, planning, evaluating about how it ought to be - only to find out that in the bigger scheme of things, our thoughts, our plans and our evaluations amount to nothing.

This is why I believe Rosh Hashanah and Kippur and this entire season is necessary to awaken in us our inner faith, hope and belief in a better future, not to succumb to the quagmire of despair. To activate our inner energy within our souls, to pray to the One who is All- Powerful. We may not have an exact strategy, but if we assume a resigned attitude, we will lose even before we begin. Our Jewish tradition is that every challenge, every adversity must begin with absolute fortitude and belief that victory is at hand. This is the root of faith. Faith that we will prevail with G-ds help. The breaths of fresh air of the newness of Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur and the resolve of our faiths will have the power to counter the winds of our uncertainty. Rosh Hashanah is urging us, open the window of your heart and breath the fresh air of faith, as you are. And even though we are expected this year because of Covid and the Delta variant to limit the way we will have to deal with the High Holidays, we must make our utmost endeavor to celebrate them, and not to discard the impact of celebrating them as a family. Those who are able to come to Synagogue while following the health guidelines should do their level best to attend the Synagogue and try to smell the flowers of gratitude to Ha’Shem for what you have and feel the hopeful breeze of your life.

At the beginning of the year, G-d decides and plans the entire year. This year I am praying to Hashem to grant us miracles to see with our own eyes the healing of our sick congregants, to answer our prayers with a yes, for Refuah Shelema, to grant us and our families a good healthy and peaceful year with good Parnassa (livelihood) to be able to do Tzedaka and kindness for others. To receive good news from our children and grandchildren, to be granted harmony in our Congregation Magain David as well as other Congregations. And to crown the efforts of our members for the enhancement and strength of our congregation.

May this year bring us closer to our complete redemption and may we be blessed with a good and healthy Year. ”Tizku Leshanim Rabbot Neimot Vetovot Amen.

Rabbi Simon Benzaquen

High Holiday Highlights by Rabbi Simon Benzaquen

Rabbi Benzaquen has shared these thoughts with us on the holidays. Please visit magaindavid.com/posts for more insights.

We are now in the month of Elul, the last month of the Jewish calendar. It begins a period of intensive introspection, to clarify life's goals, and to come closer to G-d. It is a time when we step back and look at ourselves critically and honestly, with the intention of improving.

The four Hebrew letters of the word Elul (aleph-lamed-vav-lamed) are the first letters of the four words Ani l'edodi v'edodi li — "I am to my Beloved and my Beloved is to me" (Song of Songs 6:3). These words sum up the relationship between G-d and His people. In other words, the month preceding Rosh Hashanah is a time when G-d reaches out to us in an effort to create a more spiritually-inspiring atmosphere, one that stimulates Teshuva (repentance). It is a time for us to take advantage, and get closer to G-d, since He, as it were, has put Himself in a situation of closeness with us and desires our presence in any way that we acknowledge Him, and especially when it brings credit to Him.

40-DAY PERIOD Over 3000 years ago, when the Jewish people were privileged to hear G-d utter the Ten Commandments set in tablets of stone, the Jews later sinned with the Golden Calf. Moshe desperately pleaded with G-d to spare the nation. He did, and that same day that G-d spared the Nation, it became a "Day of Forgiveness" - "Yom Kippur".

On the first day of Elul, Moshe ascended Mt. Sinai, and 40 days later — on the seminal Yom Kippur — he returned to the people (Jews) with a new, second set of stone tablets in hand.

For us as well the month of Elul begins a 40-day period that culminates in the holiest day of the year, Yom Kippur. During this period, many people increase their study of Torah and performance of good deeds.

Selihot We Sefaradim begin reciting Selihot from the first day of the month of Elul onward until Yom Kippur. Selihot is a special series of beautiful prayers that invoke G-d's mercy. In most Congregations, including Magain David, Selihot are recited early in the morning, before Shacharit.

After the sin of the Golden Calf Moses asked G-d to explain His system for relating to the world. G-d's answer, known as the "13 Attributes of Mercy," forms the essence of the Selihot prayers.

The "13 Attributes" speak of G-d's patience. The same G-d who created us with a clean slate and a world of opportunity, gives us another chance if we've misused the first one.

Selihot should be said with a minyan. If this is impossible, then it should still be said alone, omitting the parts in Aramaic and the "13 Attributes of Mercy".

Selihot are held every Sunday and weekday morning before Shacharit.

Two Aspects to Rosh Hashana When Rosh Hashana arrives we are keenly aware of its significance. On one hand it is the awesome Day of Judgment when G-d determines the outcome of our entire year. We become anxious and frightened not knowing what awaits us. On the other hand, on Rosh Hashana night we also dip our apples into honey or sugar and partake of those symbols which signify what we hope for in the coming year; in which a happy and joyous mood prevails.

Sefaradim emphasize this happy and joyous mood of the Holiday especially in our Liturgy.

Notably, we do not recite "Unetane Tokef" ("Let us express the mighty holiness of this day") one of the most solemn and powerful prayers of Rosh Hashana, recited by our brethren Ashkenazim as introduction of The Kedusha during The Amida of Mussaf. Attributed to Rabbi Amnon of Mainz (10th century), "Untaneh Tokef" is a heart wrenching prayer, filled with emotional and powerful words which would lead us to cry and emphasize the sad aspect and judgment of the Rosh Hashana Yom Tov. In contrast, our sister Congregations, The Ashkenazim, make this Prayer the central theme of the Rosh Hashana Amidah.

Reviewing the laws of Rosh Hashana further reminds us that within judgment itself there is cause for rejoicing. We enter the day clean and dressed in our best garments as a sign of our confidence in a favorable judgment. On Rosh Hashana we do not recite the vidui (confession). Rather than focusing on past sins and seeking forgiveness, we look forward with optimism to the future.

When we properly understand the future of the judgment on Rosh Hashana, however, the apparent paradox of rejoicing in judgment evaporates. We recognize that it is we who require the Divine Judgment, the annual opportunity for spiritual stocktaking. We summon G-d to judge us with the blasts of the Shofar that herald the convening of the Divine Tribunal. Our voluntary submission to judgment arouses Divine Mercy; that is the secret of the Shofar. The shofar also reminds us of the merits of our patriarchs, Abraham and Isaac, who were willing to sacrifice their lives for the love of G-d, and in their place a ram was brought.

On the two nights of Rosh Hashana we should make sure that we partake of the symbols that we hope for in the coming year. Also, during the two days of Rosh Hashana, Tuesday, September 7th, and Wednesday, September 8th, we blow the shofar in our Synagogue. Everyone should come to the Synagogue both days of Rosh Hashana.

Hearing the Shofar is the most important obligation of the two days of Rosh Hashana.

TASHLICH We have a beautiful custom. On the first day of Rosh Hashana we recite the Tashlich Ceremony near a body of water. Tashlich are prayers recited while symbolically throwing away our sins.

Minha: 5:00 PM. Tashlich (Lake Park @ 12th Avenue): 6:15 PM. Arvit: 7:15 PM

ZIARA - CEMETERY PILGRIMAGE On the Eve of Rosh Hashana it is customary to make a pilgrimage to the cemetery (Ziara) to recite memorial prayers at the grave of the righteous, including members of our families who are buried there. The purpose for doing this is to pray to G-d to hear our prayers in the merit of the righteous.

Tizku Le'Shanim Rabbot.

Rabbi Simon Benzaquen
